Festival Campaign Concept & Design

Duration: 1–2 years
Team collaboration

Brand Snapshot

Spykar is a well-known Indian denim and casualwear brand, positioned around a "Young & Restless" identity since 1992.

The brand maintains an active festive content calendar on social media, marking major Indian festivals with creative, onbrand greeting posts.

My involvement: concept and design contribution to Spykar's festival campaign content, as part of the brand's creative team, over a 1–2 year period.

Role & Scope

What I contributed to Spykar's festival campaigns

Concept/ideation

Developing the creative idea behind each festival post

Design/creation

Building out the final visual execution

Worked as part of a collaborative team effort, contributing creative direction and design for the brand's recurring festival content series.

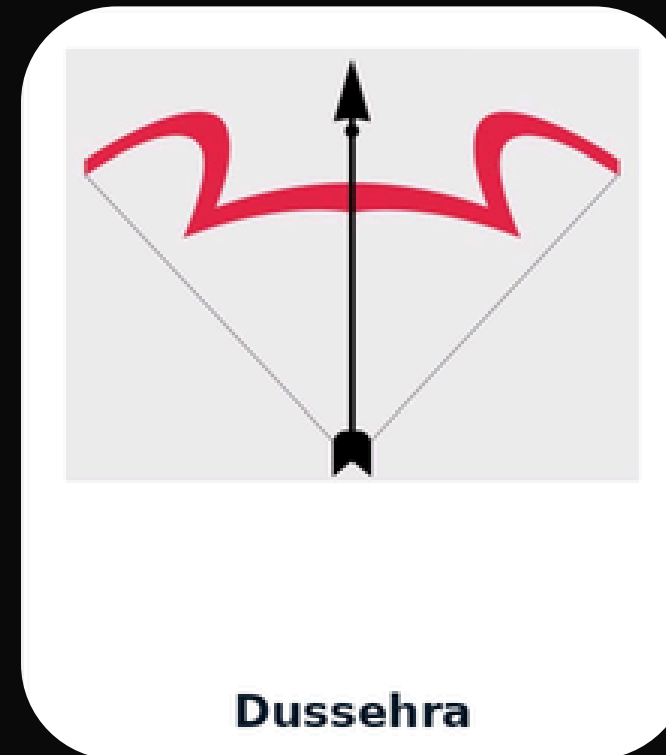

Creative Concept "The Logo- Reimagined"

The core creative idea across this series: reworking Spykar's own brand mark.
the signature wave/swirl icon into each festival's visual language

The swirl becomes a kite string for Makar Sankranti

Curves into a bow for Dussehra

Swirl echoed in the goddess's silhouette

This turned routine festival greetings into a consistent, ownable brand device instantly recognizable as Spykar regardless of the festival.

Festival Campaign Showcase

✓ A snapshot of the festive series each post adapting the same core idea to a different cultural moment, maintaining visual consistency while celebrating India's festival diversity

Contribution Summary

Over 1–2 years, contributed concept and design work to Spykar's festival content series as part of the brand's team developing a consistent creative device that turned the brand's own logo into a recurring visual signature across major festivals.
